EXCAVATIONS AT WINDSOR CASTLE.

THE LONDON PAPERS give interesting accounts of excavations in portions of the road and foot-way on the north side of the Castle Hill, near the eastern end of the Royal Tomb House, of Windsor Chapel, Windsor, which is being prepared as a memorial to the late Prince Consort.

In this work the men have laid bare a portion of the ancient foundation of the chapel, which consists of a bed of chalk concrete, some feet in thickness, hard and well laid. Leading from the chapel up the hill, near the Lord Chamberlain's office, a deep trench has been cut, and in digging this portions of an ancient building have been discovered, two or three feet below the level of the roadway, opposite the Deanery. These remains consist of what appear to be two stone jambs, forming a small window, which probably lighted a narrow staircase leading under ground. Close by, a vault has been discovered and broken into. This vault lies under the garden of the Deanery. It is built of red bricks, which retain their freshness of color, while from a small opening in the roof the water from the surface above would seem to have been constantly trickling, as the vault is exceedingly damp. It is, however, stated that the position of this vault, though not generally known, was accidentally discovered some years back. The floor is paved with red brick, and on being struck with a hard substance gives forth a hollow sound, as if there was yet another vault beneath. The north end, which would seem to lead beneath the Deanery, is bricked up, and the only present entrance is that in the bottom of the trench. There is also at the north end of the arched roof a small trap door, the wood of which is rotten with age and damp.

A PRETTY PEOPLE.—Old Bowe kept a hotel where he used to say one could get anything that was ever made to eat. One day in came a Yankee, who asked old Bowe what he could give him for dinner.

"Anything, sir, from a pickled elephant to a canary bird's tongue."

"Wall," said the Yankee, eyeing Bowe, "I guess I'll take a piece of pickled elephant."

"Well, we've got 'em all ready right here in the house; but you'll have to take a whole 'un, cause we never cut 'em."

The Yankee thought he would take some codfish and potatoes.

No army, it is said, was ever better fed than our army on the James river, the Subsistence Department being active and the communication is uninterrupted. Some of the individual commissions for supplying vegetables to the army have been over doing the onion and cabbage business. Thirty thousand of the latter vegetable received were lying rotting at City Point for want of consumers.

Improvement and Progress

We hardly think there is to be found within the limits of the older States, or in the region of the Pacific slope, any place where, from small means more money can be by speculation or otherwise be realized at the present time than Salt Lake City. And that this is fully realized by the money making portion of other communities, is fully evidence by the number of those already here and the daily accessions which their already large number receives.

This change in the status of the community has been owing to circumstances which (however much the self-styled regrets of "this people" may strive to ignore, them) still exist, are evident to the thinking class at home and abroad; which in addition are potent enough in the course of another two years' influence to change entirely the position occupied by this Territory with regard to her sister States and Territories, and which no art, cunning, hypocrisy, or pretended revelation, will be sufficiently powerful to stay in the onward and upward course.

We congratulate, therefore, and with reason, the former inhabitants—the actual residents, and the future population on a changed state of affairs in regard to their relations to Government and an even greater change in their relations toward their municipal rulers. May a day soon come (and there is every likelihood of it) when municipal rule and rulers will be something else than emanations from the shameless and absurd despotism heretofore consistently and persistently engaged in doing its utmost, under a transparent and flimsy gauze of religion, to overwhelm and subdue the rights and sentiments of human liberty, and the freedom of mankind at large.

CANADIAN COMMENTS UPON THE LAKE PIRACY.—The Montreal Herald, in commenting upon the capture of the Lake Erie steamers, SAYS :

If the facts are as related, a most improper use has been made of the asylum which those men have obtained in Canada, and we trust that the Government will, as the late Government did, take every step to prevent acts of this kind, which, if permitted, will sooner or later bring us into a war with our neighbors. There can be no doubt of the tendency of such acts, and if the guilty parties have been arrested, we hope they will be brought to trial and punishment. The neutrality of the lakes is a most important and valuable convention; but it will plainly be abrogated, if Canadian ports are used as a cover for persons seeking to assail American commerce.

WHITE WOMEN IN THE COTTON FIELDS.—The Memphis Argus of October 7th, says: Among the changes introduced in this immediate vicinity not the least change is that of white women hiring to pick cotton on the plantations. Yesterday a number went up the Mississippi on the steamer McGill, who have been engaged for service on plantations on the Arkansas as well as the Tennessee side of the river, at wages so attractive as to put in the shade any to be had in the city, even under the most favorable circumstances.

CALIFORNIA.—Lincoln's majority in forty-two counties of California is 17,006.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE UNION DAILY VEDETTE.]

New York, Nov. 19.

The Herald's Hilton Head letter gives a list of nine Union officers who escaped from the rebel prison at Columbia, and after twelve days hardships reached our fleet. They state that privates at Columbia are infinitely worse off than officers. Many have nothing to cover their nakedness but grain sacks, and dozens crawl out of their prison pen every night, and are shot at by the guards. Many are killed in this manner. Those who escape to the woods are hunted by dogs, and torn and mangled. Captain Parker, who escaped on the 5th of October, was hunted by blood hounds, which tore him so horribly that he died in a few days. About two thousand prisoners are in this pen, and hundreds are on plantations without shoes. For days together all rations are withheld from the prisoners. The rebel officers offer food to those who will take the oath of allegiance and join the southern army. In this way, under the pangs of hunger, many have taken the oath of allegiance to the Southern Confederacy.

Herald's Shenandoah dispatch of the 16th, says all is quiet since Early fell back to Fisher's Hill.

Deserters say that Early has but 15,000 men under his command, and all his reinforcements received since the battle of Cedar Creek, consist of returned convalescents and small squads who were away on detached service. When Early recrossed his army over Cedar Creek on Friday night last, and after his cavalry was so handsomely whipped by Merritt, the infantry refused to stop any longer, and Early was obliged to order them back to the works at Fisher's Hill.

Herald's dispatch of the 17th says everything is quiet. A cavalry reconnoissance as far as Mt. Jackson failed to discover the presence of the rebel army, except a few stragglers. Residents of the country say they are told by rebel officers that the army will go into winter quarters at Staunton. No further attempt will be made to recover possession of the Valley this winter. The rebel rank and file are said to be wretchedly provided with provisions and clothing.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 16th has no doubt that Grant has planned the movement from Atlanta towards Mobile, and learns that the fleet transports laden with supplies, arrived at Pensacola, and claims that Hood was defeated in his plans, and that Sherman is at Bridgeport.

The Washington Republican of last evening, says information is received that Powell's and Early's forces have retreated up the Valley, and are hotly pursued by Sheridan. It is the opinion of officers in Sheridan's army that Early will leave a force at Lynchburg to hold it, and send his main force to aid Bragg in the anticipated advance of Sherman on Charleston.

A Washington special says it is rumored here that the Florida will be given up promptly in the event of the demand for her by Brazil.

Secretary Stanton is sufficiently recovered to be on duty in the War Department.

Montgomery Blair is said to be a candidate for U. S. Senator for Maryland, in place of ex-Gov. Hicks, who is to be made Postmaster at Baltimore.

REBEL FEARS FOR WILMINGTON.

—The Richmond Sentinel says : In commenting upon the probability that having sealed up nearly every other seaport, the Yankees are bent upon the destruction of Wilmington, the Augusta Constitutionalist congratulates its readers that this point bids fair to put a period to the audacious luck of Farragut. It is stated that no more tremendous earthquakes exist on this continent than those that bulwark the inlets of Cape Fear. Nature, besides, has done much for its protection. The bars are shallow, the channels narrow and immediately under our guns. By the most skillful navigation alone can the breakers be avoided, the slightest variation precipitating vessels upon their remorseless fangs. In addition, every precaution has been taken to counteract an investment by land.

In addition, the enormous value to the Confederacy is made a note of. The supplies brought from abroad have been immense, and by its commerce our credit has been mainly sustained in Europe. For more than a year the arrival and departure of steamers averaged twenty per month. Since the inauguration of a new system of signal lights, very few vessels have been lost, and the peculiar confirmation of coast, hard by the river mouths, renders a hermetical blockade almost impossible.

And, outside of its maritim importance, the fact of its being a railroad centre, just in the rear of Gen. Lee, makes it a position of almost prime necessity. Our impression is, the Federals would have a magnificent water base south of Richmond, and dangerous point d'appui as against Charleston or Petersburg.

A NEW BRICK FOR GARDEN WALLS.

—Mr. Foxley of Stony Stratford has invented a new brick, ingeniously contrived, for avoiding the necessity of nailing or training trees to garden walls. The brick has a projecting bead in the centre of the face, which is drilled with holes so as to admit the passage of a piece of string or bass, with which the branch may be tied. One advantage of the bead is that it admits of a free circulation of air between the plant and wall, preventing the formation of mildew and rot, and the accumulation of insects. The cost is said to be little more than that of an ordinary brick.

IS IT WORTH CHRONICLING?—We were yesterday shown an extensive bologna, said to be the largest ever made in the State in a single skin. It measured 12 feet in length and weighed 30 pounds. It was manufactured by H. Charles, at Heisch's Washington Market, Second and M streets. Sau-sages of this size and character are sometimes made in Germany.—Sac. Union, Nov. 12th.

"How is this?" said an old friend of Colonel Blank of the regular army, as he met him the other day, "I thought you declared you would resign if the President issued an anti-slavery proclamation." "Oh," replied the Colonel, "I meant that I would resign myself to it, and I have done so."

DEATH OF A NOTABLE FREEMASON.

—The Grass Valley National of November 3d, says:

Colonel O. H. Dibble, died this morning at the Exchange Hotel in this place, after a short but painful illness, aged 77 years. He was surrounded by relatives and friends, who soothed, as best they might, the dying agonies of the aged and venerable man. Peace go with his white hairs to the grave. He died in the fullness of time, and not unprepared for the great change. Col. Dibble was no ordinary man. His long life was illustrated by many high evidences of ability, and his talents were rewarded with distinctions of which any man might be proud. He started in life as the inventor of the "crane," a most useful and important agency in the working of canals. His invention was approved by Governor Bouck and Governor Marcy, and by the Erie Canal Commission, and was generally used on the great Erie Canal. He afterward took a contract to build a stone bridge across the Potomac, to cost $4,000,000. The contract was given him by President Andrew Jackson under a law of Congress. At the next session the law was repealed, and he then took and fulfilled a contract for construction of a wooden bridge at the same locality. President Jackson afterwards offered him the Ministry to France, which he declined. He then took the position of Postmaster at Buffalo, where his family resided. Subsequently, he became President of the Mechanics' Bank at Buffalo, and was Grand Lecturer of the Masonic Fraternity in New York.

He was, also, at one time, it not at the time of his decease, Grand Lecturer of the Masonic Order of California. His title at the time of his decease was, "Most Excellent Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of California." During a portion of his life, he was possessed of an immense fortune. Col. Dibble was born in New Hampshire. He came to California at an early day, and has lived in this county since 1852. His widow, an aged and estimable lady, resides at the old

HUMAN REMAINS FOUND.—The

The mangled body of an unknown man was washed ashore at California City, and an inquest held on the same on Monday last. One leg was off below the knee, and the other, entirely separated from the body, was found near by. The body was disemboweled, and flesh on portions of it entirely gone. It is supposed that this is one of the victims of the late steamer casualties. A heavy, curiously wrought gold ring, with the initials "P. B." engraved thereon, was on the third finger of the left hand. The ring has been deposited with the County Treasurer, and may possibly lead to the identification of the body. — San Rafael Journal.

"My lad," said a lady to a boy carrying a mail-bag, "are you a mail boy?"

"You doesn't think I'm a female boy, does ye, ma'am?"

A MODERN VERMONT

that Albert Pike, once a lawyer, a soldier, scalper of wounded men, and now rebel Judge of the Supreme Court in Arkansas, is exercising his new powers with the bloodthirstiness of a Jeffries. He has just declared it treason, unpardonable with death to take the oath of allegiance to the United States Government. This new code is already in operation in Arkansas. Looking at the career of this man, charity would suggest that he is insane. Born in Massachusetts, bred a lawyer with a liberal education and possessing no mean qualities as a poet, he took up a kind of roving life in the West, and upon the breaking out of the rebellion he turned up in Arkansas, where he turned soldier and joined the rebel cause. His brutality in this capacity, at the head of his Indian troops, will not be forgotten. He instituted the savage system of scalping the wounded men on the battle field, and in every way gave evidence of a wantonly cruel nature. And yet he actually made application to the Government authorities in Missouri, subsequently, to permit him to return to his allegiance and claim parole for his officers. We are not aware of the course the Government pursued; but we presume that the atrocity of his conduct forbade all chance of the application being favorably received, and it is probable that the natural ferocity of his character is now developing itself in the exercise of the judicial functions which Jeff. Davis has bestowed upon him.—N. Y. Herald.

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED MAN.

—Hon. Thos. F. Marshall died at his home in Woodford county, Kentucky, on Thursday, the 23d ult., of disease of the heart and lungs. Mr. M. was widely known as one of the most gifted men of the day, and for the last thirty years has occupied a large share of the public attention. Few men surpassed him in varied learning and elegant literary acquirements, which, with his splendid genius, made him one of the most attractive orators of the age in which he lived.—Ec.

John Everts, of St. Louis, became lucky after many disappointments. On being drafted he made a speech, saying: "Boys, I have been buying lottery tickets for about twenty-five years—I bought a ticket at every sale in the Sanitary Fair—I have betted against the 'tiger' at times, and am not indifferent to 'Seven Up,' otherwise called 'Old Sledge.' I never won a game in my life. But the wheel of that infernal draft did not turn twice till it came my name. Confound it!"

land of Montezuma Hill in this county, will exhibit on to-morrow, at 1 o'clock, p. m., at the house which stands between the two bridges at the foot of Broad and Main streets, his wonderful locomotive which he constructed to drive a train of cars up a steep grade of 1,000 feet to the mine, by the power of steam. For years Mr. Shankland has been at work constructing this road, and now proposes to exhibit it to our people to show its wonderful power.—Nebraska (Cal.) Herald.

Local Matters.

Having occasion to call at the muster office a few days since, we, on entering, found that "calm browed" roll making officer, and that fun loving "greenback issuer," engaged in an animating conversation respecting the peculiar style with which a lady should dress, and as disputation was shipshape, was considered by them as unquestionable, we were at once and "unanimously" appointed as umpire. The dealer in Legal Tenders propounded the following: "In case a lady should be deformed with a hump back, should she not conform thereto and clothe herself with a camel's hair shawl?"

Which was responded to by the gentleman who presides over the "final bid" of the soldier, with the answer—"that by all means the lady so afflicted should appear in the appropriately named costume."

The "uncheckable" officer, whose pleasant duty is to replenish the purses of all with whom he is immediately associated, asked—"if, in case the lady should meet with the still more lamentable affliction of two humps, into what could she appear in public that would be termed as the most befitting garment?"

To which, replied the "never waiting" muster gentleman—"that she should purchase two camel's hair shawls."

This hardly satisfied his brother officer, and after some little discussion, the umpire was called upon, when we gave the following as our decision:

In the case of one hump, the lady should appear with a camel's hair shawl—if afflicted with the second hump—she should purchase the same garment, but "two ply." And to avoid further controversy we suggested that in case the third hump should appear, she should cover herself with camel's hair.

LITERARY CLUB.—We understand that it is the intention of a considerable number of residents in Salt Lake City and Territory, to establish in the city a Literary Club, free to all classes who can bring the proper qualifications, mental and moral. Their times of meeting are to be Monday and Thursday evenings, and we are told the first meeting was held on Thursday night last. We wish the Club that success which it merits.

We noticed among the visitors to our Camp on Sunday evening at Dress Parade, Captain Pollock, of the 9th Infantry, U. S. A. He spoke highly of the efficiency of this command, and was well pleased with the military appearance of Camp Douglas and its location and improvements.

A singular plot against the life of the Emperor of Austria has been discovered at Vienna. The conspirators were mere boys 14 years of age. One of them dropped a pocket-book in which was revealed the whole plot. This youth has been sentenced to five years imprisonment, and his supposed associates were acquitted.

A man in Appleton, Minnesota, recently perceived flames issuing from his well. His neighbors gathered to put out the fire, when it was discovered that an oil spring had burst through the well and the burning ignited was blazing away. The fire was extinguished, and the man is beginning to realize.

The Savannah Republican says the losses during the bombardment of Atlanta will reach five millions of dollars worth of real estate, embracing forty-seven houses burnt. There were 107 persons killed and 607 wounded.

WORK UP THE WRONG CUSTOMER.
J. H. Woodward, a young man, a resident of Indiana, and at one time adjutant of an Indiana regiment, was called out at a recent meeting, and responded as follows:

GENTLEMEN: The great cry that I have heard to-day has been peace, peace. I tell you that there is no man in the nation that desires peace more than I do—a permanent, lasting peace. [Cheers.] And, gentlemen, I will tell you how we will get it. Fight this war out. Take every negro in the rebel States, and exterminate every d—d rebel, wherever you can find him. [Hisses.]

Gentlemen, you need not try to hiss me down, for I am an old soldier, and I have faced almost as mean a looking crowd as is before me; I mean the thieves and bullwhackers of Tennessee. I know I was called upon to make a speech out of derision, and I intend to tell you what I think of you.

When God said he would save Sodom if ten righteous men could be found there, I have no doubt he would have done it; and to-day, if you all stood on the brink of hell, and He would say that He would save you if one loyal man could be found among you, I have not the least doubt but there would be a great many strange faces in hell for supper.

Gentlemen, when you wish to hear from me again, you will only have to call on me, I am always at home.

In a trial at Cork for murder the principal witness swore strongly against the prisoner. He particularly swore that a hat found near the place of the murder, belonged to the prisoner, whose name was James.

"By virtue of your oath, are you sure that this is the same hat?"

"Yes."

"Did you examine it carefully before you swore in your information that it was the prisoner's?"

"I did."

"Now, let me see," said O'Connell, as he took up the hat, and began to examine it carefully in the inside. He then spelled aloud the name of James' slowly, thus, J-a-m-e-s.

"Now, do you mean this word was in the hat when you found it?"

"I do."

"Did you see it there?"

"I did."

"And is it the same hat?"

"It is."

"Now, my lord," said O'Connell, holding up the hat to the bench, "there is an end to this case—there is no name whatever inscribed in the hat."

The result was an instant acquittal.

The Persian poet Saadi commends fasting, in terms that deserve the attention of those unfortunate persons who suffer from drowsiness on Sunday afternoon: "Hunger is a cloud out of which falls a rain of eloquence and knowledge; when the belly is empty the body becomes spirit; when it is full the spirit becomes body."

Why are greenbacks more valuable than gold, even at its present price? Because when you put a greenback in your pocket you double it, and when you take it out again you find it increases.

A soldier in New Orleans expressed his opinion of General Canby thus: "He appears to be in earnest, and to be a thorough soldier. Besides, I should like him to be man of business, for he has been here more than 2 months and has not yet found time to have his photograph taken."
